

Angel Ridge

No reason can be seen not to adopt this site. It is generally safe and tidy.

The design is over ambitious for a public park though and will need careful management.

Consider totally filling in 'water feature' with block paviors as it does not recycle the water back to the top and will remain high maintenance and potentially costly. It is potentially a trip hazard as well.

Site needs tidying and many minor landscaping tasks to organize.

Walls have been rebuilt and appear very sound and actually somewhat beautiful.

Enormous boulder mounted onto spinning pedestal is a potential danger and must be monitored closely. If it fails it could kill someone instantly. This is not a standard item for a public play area.

Recommend that the installer be contacted and plans for this item be obtained. A better understanding of this item is needed and perhaps a guarantee still exists from the installer/ manufacturer. Consider total removal and selling to Jurassic World.
